

Hello Dwayne: I'll bet you were hoping all the complaints about prescriptions were behind you now, and here I am again. However, better news.

I picked up another prescription today for Candesartan and the cost was $125.00 for a 3 months supply.

I asked to the lady Pharmacist if there was nothing more reasonable and she said if I got the 16 MG rather than the 8 MG the doctor ordered, it would be $73.00 OR if I got the 32 MG cut them in half, it would cost $43.00.

Guess which ones I got????

Right now I take two 8 MG in the morning and two 8 MG at night, which adds up to 32 MG per day.

I am still patting myself on the back for this great decision.

I am writing to you as maybe other people who are finding the cost of pills a bit much these days, could also get a higher MG pill and cut them in half for a lot less money.

Just a suggestion and hope it helps someone. Seems the bigger the size of pill the less it costs.

Regards
